II. Selecting Upper-Level Courses

- A. What types of Upper-Level Courses are offered at FIU Law?
 - 1. Doctrinal Courses
 - 2. Skills Courses
 - 3. Experiential Courses
 - 4. Non-Classroom Work

1. Doctrinal Courses

- a. What is a Doctrinal Course?
 - Vast majority of courses taught at FIU Law.
 - Designed to teach a specific area of law (ex: Torts, Intellectual Property, Family Law).
 - Courses generally utilize casebooks and other sources of primary law (like statutes and regulations) to teach material.
 - Students are generally evaluated by examination (essay, short answer, multiple choice) and/or paper, and class participation.

1. Doctrinal Courses

- b. Are there specific types of Doctrinal Courses that I am required to take?
 - Yes.
 - Two Litigation and Alternative Dispute courses (could also be satisfied by one or more Skills Courses);
 - One Upper-Level International Law course;
 - One seminar;
 - Professional Responsibility
 - Wait! What is a seminar?
 - A doctrinal course that is focused on a very specific area of the law.
 - Enrollment is capped at 15 students.
 - Grade is based on a paper (generally 25-30 pages or longer), class presentations, and other class participation.
 - Sample seminar course titles: Law and Literature; The Sierra Leone Tribunal's Contribution to International Law.

1. Doctrinal Courses

- c. How do I know whether a course satisfies the specific J.D. requirements?
 - Registrar's Office will provide Course Registration Guide, which lists all courses and which (if any) requirements they fulfill; and
 - Degree audit on <https://myfiu.edu>.
- d. Can a single course satisfy two or more specific J.D. requirements?
 - Yes. For example, you could satisfy both the International and Seminar requirements by taking The Sierra Leone Tribunal Seminar.
