PARTNERSHIP PLEDGE:

Welcome to Florida International University College of Law!

The Ovadia Career Planning and Placement Office aims to guide and assist you in every step of your professional development journey. In keeping with our partnership model, we are committed to helping create and maintain a pipeline of employment opportunities. We also commit to provide comprehensive programming to help you develop the skills needed to meaningfully participate in those opportunities.

In law school, the process of planning your career and applying for jobs starts early. Take the time early on to learn about the services and opportunities that will make finding your job easier.

The Ovadia CP&P Office commits to:

• Maintain an updated online listing of employment opportunities for students and alumni
• Conduct an active year-round recruitment program, including fall and spring on-campus recruiting, résumé collection program and job fair coordination
• Keep abreast of trends in employment and the specific needs of employers
• Provide opportunities to network with and learn from practicing legal professionals
• Set up reciprocity relationships with other law schools
• Teach effective résumé and cover letter writing skills and provide résumé review and feedback
• Provide opportunities to learn and practice effective interviewing skills
• Provide individualized career counseling services
• Provide opportunities to learn about different areas of law, including alternative careers
• Conduct professionalism workshops covering business and professional etiquette

You will benefit by being proactive in:

• Making an appointment with an adviser
• Reading all communication sent to you by the Ovadia CP&P Office
• Attending as many skills workshops and programs as practical
• Knowing and using the resources available to you at the Ovadia CP&P Office
• Being a regular and frequent visitor to Symplicity

INTRODUCTION TO THE OVADIA CP&P OFFICE:

Navigating the span of employment opportunities and variety of career paths within the law can be daunting. The Ovadia CP&P Office is committed to providing you with the tools and resources you will need to manage the process. As active partners, we are also here to provide knowledge, advice, and encouragement along the way.

Ovadia CP&P Office Staff:
Ana Bierman, Assistant Dean  acbierma@fiu.edu
Randee Breiter, Assistant Director  rgbreite@fiu.edu
Jessica Ciminero, Assistant Director  jciminer@fiu.edu

CAREER SERVICES AND RESOURCES FOR STUDENTS:

A. Individual Counseling

You are encouraged to meet often and regularly with an adviser to discuss any career-related issues. Your adviser can provide insight and advice to help you develop your career search strategy. He or she will also address all aspects of career planning including: résumé and cover letter preparation and employment application procedures, market and employer information, practice area and career options exploration, interview preparation, and personal professional development.

Appointments are available in person, via telephone, and via email. Schedule your appointments directly with an adviser by calling (305) 348-8376 or emailing lawcareer@fiu.edu.

The National Association for Law Placement ("NALP") is dedicated to facilitating legal career counseling and planning, recruiting and professional development for law students, legal employers and law school career planning offices (http://www.nalp.org). According to NALP’s Principles and Standards for Law Placement and Recruitment Activities, law schools should not offer career services to first year law students prior to October 15th. Therefore, after October 15th of your first semester in law school, we strongly recommend that you meet with an adviser.

B. Professional Development Programming

Throughout the academic year, the Ovadia CP&P Office offers workshops and seminars dealing with many topics including: practice area exploration, job search strategies, judicial clerkships, interviewing techniques, résumé and cover letter writing and business and social etiquette. We advertise these programs through (1) emails to students; (2) Symplicity announcements (on your home page once you log in); (3) the Ovadia CP&P Office Blog (http://fiulawcareer.fiu.edu/, you can find our “CP&P Events” calendar at the top menu); (4) FIU Law’s Facebook page; and (5) the FIU Law online calendar (https://calendar.fiu.edu/index.php/events/category/law/).
At the beginning of the spring semester, the Ovadia CP&P Office holds a 1L Career Development Workshop to explain in greater detail the job options and resources available to students in their first year of law school and beyond.

C. Mock Interviews

Advisers are available to conduct mock interviews throughout the year. Mock interviews are a great tool for practicing interviewing skills. Even the most experienced interviewees can benefit from the exercise.

D. Informational Career Presentations

Throughout the year, the Ovadia CP&P Office invites attorneys from law firms, government agencies, public interest organizations and corporations to visit campus to speak with students about their legal careers. This offers students the opportunity to ask attorneys about their areas of practice and individual experiences.

E. Job Postings – Symplicity

The Ovadia CP&P Office uses Symplicity – an online data management system – for a variety of career-related purposes. You will use Symplicity in many ways; to search for employment, apply for on-campus interviews, or to apply to job fairs.

The Ovadia CP&P Office receives many job listings from local and national employers for summer positions, permanent positions, part-time positions and internship opportunities. These opportunities are listed on Symplicity.

Students will receive access to Symplicity around November of the 1L year. An account has already been created for each student and information on how to access Symplicity is available at https://law.fiu.edu/career-planning/students-alumni-job-database/.

F. Consortium / Job Fairs

Job fairs present an opportunity for students to interview with various types of legal employers. It is also a unique opportunity to network with law students from other law schools across the country. The Ovadia CP&P Office website has the most up-to-date list of job fairs and deadlines for applications (http://law.fiu.edu/career-planning/recruiting-programs/). Job fairs include:

• Equal Justice Works Career Fair and Conference (Late October, Washington D.C.)
• Heartland Diversity Legal Job Fair (Mid-September, Kansas City, MO)
• Midwest Minority Recruitment Conference (Early September, Minneapolis, MN)
• National Black Prosecutors Association Job Fair (Mid-August, location varies)
• National Hispanic Bar Association Career Fair (Mid-August, location varies)
• Patent Law Job Fair (Early August, Chicago, IL)
• Southeastern Minority Job Fair (Early August, Atlanta, GA)
• Southeastern Intellectual Property Job Fair (Early August, Atlanta, GA)
G. Other Career Related Activities:

The Ovadia CP&P Office will work hard to bring speakers to discuss various career options. We will also present networking opportunities with lawyers from different practice areas.

THE OVADIA CP&P OFFICE DEVELOPMENT PLAN:

While the Ovadia CP&P Office is dedicated to providing you with every resource available for your career development, it is entirely up to you to take the steps needed to manage your legal career. There are five steps you should follow to successfully plan and manage your career:

1. Self-assessment. What is it you want out of your career and why are you in law school? These are some of the things you will want to explore before diving into your job search. See Appendix A for some exercises on creating an Individual Development Plan (IDP).
2. Exploration of Options. Use the people and resources available to help you explore and evaluate the career options that advance your specified goals.
3. Focus and Goal Setting. With your newfound focus and goals, let an adviser help you formulate an action plan for how to get the right training and work experience.
4. Marketing Yourself. During this implementation phase an adviser will evaluate your résumé, cover letter and interview skills.
5. Career Management. Take advantage of every opportunity and resource to build your skills and continuously track your path to stay on target.

SEE APPENDIX A for forms on creating your own self-assessment.
OVADIA CP&P OFFICE CALENDAR AND TIMELINES:

FIRST YEAR (1L) TIMELINE:

Fall Semester

Mandatory 1L Job Search Skills Workshops
Early November
This session will introduce you to the 1L job search process, Ovadia CP&P Office resources and networking and interviewing basics. You will also receive your login information to Symplicity. You must attend a workshop before you can have an individual counseling session with an Ovadia CP&P Office adviser.

1L Individual Counseling Sessions
Early November
Starting in November, you may make an appointment to meet with an Ovadia CP&P Office adviser to review job search tactics. Please note that under NALP rules, 1L students may not individually interact with the Ovadia CP&P Office until after October 15, and may not contact employers until December 1.

Employer Contact Permitted
December 1
NALP allows 1Ls to begin contacting employers; however, the primary focus should be on preparing for your final exams.

Note that your classmates are future law firm partners, judges, attorneys, CEOs and non-traditional practitioners. Begin your career-long habit of networking right where you are.

Semester Break – Job Search for Summer Placement

December – January

The semester break is the best time to start actual career development practice in earnest. In order to make sure you secure legal experience for the upcoming summer term be sure to:

• Finalize your résumé and upload it onto Symplicity
• Research employers using Martindale, employers’ websites and NALP
• Discuss contacts in the legal community with family and friends
• Network to identify possible employers
• Conduct informational interviews with attorneys practicing in your areas of interest
• Check Symplicity for opportunities posted regularly
• Begin sending job inquiries to employers regarding summer opportunities
• Consider applying for the Florida Bar. You will need to have applied early if you are interested in serving as a Certified Legal Intern (CLI) during law school.

Note that the availability of paid employment for 1Ls over the summer is very limited. Students find opportunities interning without compensation for judges, public interest organizations, federal, state and local government and agencies.
Spring Semester

January – February

• Update your résumé to reflect your fall grades and class rank (please note that 1Ls will not have an official class rank until the end of their first year)
• Make an appointment with an adviser to discuss job search strategies
• Continue targeted outreach activity and network whenever possible
• Join affinity groups at the law school to take advantage of networking opportunities and to add leadership skills to your résumé
• Follow up on the résumés that have already been sent out
• Check job postings on Symplicity regularly
• Schedule a mock interview with an adviser
• Attend Ovadia CP&P Office programs, including (but not limited to):
  1L Faculty and Alumni Panel
  1L Judicial Internship Meeting
  Interview Skills Workshops
  Public Interest and Government Law Resource Fair
  Solo and Small Law Firm Practice Panel

March – April

• Finalize your summer employment and/or study plans
• Update the Ovadia CP&P Office on your summer plans
• Meet with an adviser to discuss how to maximize your summer placement and gain the experience that will help you find future employment
• Plan to attend summer job interviews and informational interviews during spring break
• Determine whether any jobs fairs are of interest to you

April – May

• If you have not yet secured a summer opportunity, continue pursuing internship opportunities; some of these post late in the semester
• Check Symplicity regularly and talk to an adviser regarding options
• Complete any pre-registrations for job fairs if applicable

Summer Break

• Read emails from the Ovadia CP&P Office about fall on campus recruiting
• Read the Ovadia CP&P Office’s PowerPoint presentations on fall recruiting at http://law.fiu.edu/career-planning/recruiting-programs/
• Update your résumé to reflect 1L grades and achievements
• Ask professors and former employers to serve as references
• Join LinkedIn to begin your professional networking (social media and marketing resources available at https://law.fiu.edu/career-planning/resource-center/)
• Begin to narrow your focus as to location and practice areas of interest
SECOND YEAR (2L) TIMELINE:

Summer Prior to 2L Year

- Update your résumé to reflect your summer experience
- Select your writing sample (read the Ovadia CP&P Office guide to writing samples at https://law.fiu.edu/career-planning/resource-center/)
- Read emails from the Ovadia CP&P Office and check Symplicity for information about fall recruiting; note that some deadlines are as early as July
- Apply directly to employers who are not coming to campus – contact an Ovadia CP&P Office adviser for guidance
- Join and attend meetings for voluntary bar associations; they have reduced or free student membership and many have mentorship programs (calendar of upcoming events available at https://law.fiu.edu/career-planning/resource-center/)

Note that the first phase of on-campus interviews takes place in mid-August

Fall Semester

Early during the fall semester of your second year in law school is when you start to look for a summer associate position with a large firm. There is fierce competition for these opportunities, so it is wise to begin planning early. Please note that summer associate positions at large, or mid-sized law firms, represent a very small percentage of all summer opportunities available.

August - September

- Continue applying directly to employers who are not participating in on-campus fall recruiting
- Check the Government Honors and Interview Handbook for summer opportunities with the federal government and federal agencies
- Check the Ovadia CP&P Office Blog for information on internship opportunities with the Florida state government and public sector employers
- Check Symplicity regularly
- Attend Ovadia CP&P Office presentations

October - December

- Continue targeted mailing to employers
- Follow up on your applications
- Attend presentation on judicial internships and clerkships
- Join the student section of the Florida Bar in the area of law interests you
- Attend local bar events, judicial forums, and any other networking opportunity available
- Schedule informational interviews for the holiday break

Winter Break – Network and attend informational interviews
Spring Semester

January – February

- Look for information on the spring recruitment program on Symplicity and in Ovadia CP&P Office emails
- Prepare a cover letter that can be customized for different employers
- Schedule a mock interview with your assigned adviser
- Consider attending some of the Job Fairs listed on the Ovadia CP&P Office website http://law.fiu.edu/career-planning/recruiting-programs/

March

- Check Symplicity for opportunities posted regularly
- Schedule summer job interviews and informational interviews for spring break
- Investigate and prepare materials for state court and federal court internships

April - May

- Check Symplicity for opportunities posted regularly
- Meet with an adviser regarding employment options and to discuss maximizing the summer experience
- Register for job fairs

Summer Semester

- Maximize your summer employment experience by working hard and developing relationships
- Develop good working relationships with supervisors and colleagues who will likely serve as your references
- Update your résumé to reflect your experience and new skills
- Prepare to apply for federal judicial clerkship opportunities
- Check your email for on fall on-campus recruitment information
- Upload your updated materials onto Symplicity
- Prepare for fall recruiting programs
- Consider applying for Post-Graduate fellowship opportunities. Meet with an adviser to discuss options and applications.

THIRD YEAR (3L) TIMELINE:

Summer prior to 3L year

Many federal, state and local government agencies and public interest organizations recruit in the fall for entry-level positions. This is when state attorney and public defender offices do their initial interviews. Note that large law firms commonly recruit attorneys for their entry-level positions from their summer programs, and do not regularly interview 3Ls.
Fall Semester

August - September

- Familiarize yourself with the bar exam requirements for the state where you’d like to practice; look for registration deadlines.
- Check Symplicity regularly for opportunities
- Apply directly to employers who do not interview on campus
- Avail yourself of every networking opportunity
- Schedule mock interviews with an adviser in advance of upcoming interviews
- Apply to government agencies offering entry-level honors programs; consult the Government Honors and Internship Handbook at http://arizonahandbooks.com/u/GHPPHandbookFIULaw. Please contact us at lawcareer@fiu.edu for password
- Research state judicial clerkship opportunities

October – December

- Use all resources available to you to research employers for targeted outreach
- Prepare your résumé, cover letter, writing sample and references – have an adviser review them
- Schedule employment and informational interviews over winter break
- Check Symplicity regularly for opportunities
- Register for a bar preparation class

Winter Break

- Network and attend informational interviews

Spring Semester

January - February

- Reach out to alumni in your field of interest and ask for informational interviews
- Schedule interviews for the upcoming spring break
- Expand your search and outreach to smaller law firms and government agencies that hire 3Ls later in the year
- Discuss options with an adviser and craft back-up plans
- Prepare for spring recruitment programs

March - April

- Research and consider other non-traditional employers who hire as needed. Look at insurance companies, banks, consulting firms, and other companies on employment aggregator websites
- Network with attorneys in your local bar association
- Finalize bar exam arrangements
- Follow up with employers with whom you have contacted or interviewed

May

- Because many smaller firms, public interest agencies and local government agencies hire as needed, it is critical that you continue to monitor Symplicity for updates
- Inform an adviser of your post-graduation employment status and provide any updated contact information

Post-Graduation

Many employers will not consider your application until after you have passed the bar exam. Your focus now should be on passing the bar. Keep in close contact with an adviser and check Symplicity regularly.
THE LEGAL RÉSUMÉ:

RÉSUMÉ FORMAT:

A. Résumé Preparation

Your legal résumé is your primary marketing tool. As the first introduction to an employer, your résumé should effectively and concisely highlight your unique skills, experiences and achievements.

Most legal recruiters spend less than 30 seconds reviewing a résumé. For maximum impact, a résumé should be arranged so that the best points are captured at a glance. Stick with a conservative and traditional template. A legal recruiter expects to see items of interest in particular places and should not have to scout around to find them. Also, a legal résumé should be limited to a single page. The exception is for students who have been out of school for more than 10 years and/or have significant and relevant prior work experience.

Above all, as the first impression you will make, there cannot be a single typographical error. Edit, edit and edit again. A couple of powerful aids include having another person review it. Read it aloud to yourself and also read it on paper. It should be your very best writing sample.

B. Paper and Fonts

Your résumé should be printed in a font and font size that is easy to read. We suggest at a minimum an 11 point font. Include your name at the top, in slightly larger font. Use bolding and italics strategically to highlight major points and sparingly so that highlighted items actually stand out. Above all, as it relates to formatting, be careful and consistent.

Your résumé should be on white, off-white or very pale gray heavy bond paper. Paper for cover letters, reference lists and thank-you letters should match your résumé, as should your envelopes.

C. Heading Section

Resist the urge to be creative. Begin your résumé with your name, address, phone number and email address. Be sure your email address is business appropriate - avoid using funny addresses or addresses with college or family nicknames. Until graduation, you are well-advised to use you FIU email address. You will have access to your FIU email address indefinitely.

Do not list any personal blogs, Twitter, YouTube, or Facebook accounts in your heading.
D. Education Section

It is generally recommended to list educational qualifications before experience, and law firms and most legal employers expect to see education listed first. That will reverse later when you amass more significant work experience.

In reverse chronological order, list the schools where you earned a degree or certification, the degree earned, the year you graduated, the location of the school (city and state) and any honors or activities worth highlighting. For instance, if you were on the Dean’s List, indicate the semesters you were on the list. If you have received any merit-based scholarships, you should include those as well. The general rule is not to include high school, unless it is very well known and you have a reasonable chance of being interviewed by a fellow alumni. Also include schools attended in study abroad programs.

Spell out the full and correct name of the institutions: i.e. “Florida International University College of Law.” One of the most common and glaring errors lies in the law school status. While you are in law school, you will use “Juris Doctor candidate, May 20__.” For undergraduate institutions, list your degree by month and year.

1. Grades

The general rule on class rank is to include your law school standing if you are in the top 33% and to include your GPA if a 3.0 or above.

Do not include GPA/class rank information for undergraduate or other post-graduate institutions attended, if you are not also including that information for law school.

2. Honors and Activities

List honors and activities under the appropriate educational institution. If you participated in many activities, include only the most significant activities, particularly activities that involve writing, achievement or leadership. Be mindful about including information that indicates political or religious affiliation. This is a deeply personal decision because while you may not want to be rejected because of your personal views, you may not want to work for an employer who would reject you for the same.

E. Experience Section

By using the title "Experience" instead of "Employment," you can list relevant volunteer or unpaid positions along with paid positions. Beginning with your most recent job, internship or volunteer position, note the name of the organization, the location, your position title and the dates of employment/experience. Next, create a brief, concise description of your duties and responsibilities.

To begin the process, reflect on each position and jot down every activity you ever performed in this job. Use action verbs to describe those activities. Include primary activities as well as activities you performed less frequently. Though you are going to pare this list down, it is a good idea to save your exhaustive list so that you can refer to it when personalizing your résumé for different employers. After all, a public interest agency may be looking for a completely different set of skills than a transactional attorney.

When paring down the list, consider your audience. What skills and abilities are employers looking for in a law clerk, summer associate or new associate? They are looking for evidence of good "lawyering" skills such as research, analysis, writing, and communications skills. Highlight specific accomplishments you achieved in each of your positions: increased revenue by 35 percent, administered a $500,000 budget, or supervised a staff of 15.

In general, you would not list jobs held more than 10 years ago or that have no relevance to the type of work you are now seeking. You should try, however, not to leave chronological gaps, so if you are a returning professional; it is perfectly acceptable to list old jobs without job descriptions.

F. Optional Sections

Some people conclude résumés with sections focusing on foreign language skills, community activities and service, personal interests or hobbies, publications, security clearances, other professional licenses, or professional associations. This section should NOT include personal information such as marital, family, or health status. Whether to include such sections and the length of such sections varies from individual and may depend on how much room you have left.

Employers assume you have the basic computer skills necessary to conduct legal research and writing and it is not necessary to include them.

G. References

References should not be included on your résumé and you should not write that references are available upon request. On a separate piece of bond paper, using the same heading as used at the top of your résumé, provide the necessary information about your references.

Employers will expect you to be able to provide the names of two or three people knowledgeable about you and your academic or professional background. Typically, you should be able to provide the names, titles, work and email addresses, and daytime phone numbers of your references. Use law professors and attorneys when possible. Otherwise, a mix of employers, college and law professors is appropriate. Do not use relatives or friends unless you are specifically asked to provide personal references.

Make certain you ask each person ahead of time if they are willing to act as a reference, then supply them with a copy of your résumé so they will have something to refer to when speaking with employers. Keep your references advised of your job search and interview developments so they are not caught off guard if contacted.

H. Consultation: Once you have completed your résumé, see an adviser for résumé review.
RÉSUMÉ DOS AND DON’TS:

DO:

• Customize your résumé, highlighting experiences relevant to specific employers.

• Include your class rank if you are in the top 33%.

• Highlight your achievements and quantify your efforts using concrete and specific terms. For example, instead of “drafted appellate briefs,” it is better to write “drafted successful Third Circuit brief.”

• For electronically submitted applications, make sure your résumé transmits as you have designed it and still prints as one page. It is a good idea to submit a PDF to protect your résumé format.

• For Symplicity purposes, upload your résumé as a Word document for review by an adviser (the system will convert the document to PDF format for application submissions).

• Check for consistency within the résumé. For example, if you spell out the name of the month in your first job description, you should spell out all months. If you list a job title, the organization, the location and your dates of employment in one job description, this information, in this order, should be provided for each position.

• Highlight the positive but be accurate. Do not exaggerate or embellish.

• Designate volunteer/community work if applying for public interest positions, if significant, or to demonstrate a commitment to a geographic region. Public interest employers consider evidence of an applicant's commitment to public service very important.

DON’T:

• Do not include an "Objective" section. This information on a résumé limits its versatility and is more properly addressed in a cover letter.

• Do not use personal pronouns such as "I", "my", etc. Your descriptions should be brief and to the point. They need not read like a sentence.

• Do not list personal information such as marital status, age, health, etc. This type of information should not play a role in hiring decisions.

• Do not use abbreviations (except for states and U.S.).

LEGAL RÉSUMÉ CHECKLIST:

This checklist highlights some common features and frequent errors found in résumés sent to traditional legal employers.

General Matters

__ Heading includes your name, address, phone number and appropriate email address
__ Résumé is formatted in a conservative and traditional manner and on white, off-white, or very light gray heavy bond paper
__ Font type and font size are easy to read and consistent throughout the résumé
__ One single page unless you are a returning professional
__ If two pages are absolutely required/desired, your name and “Page 2” is included at the top of the second page
__ References are listed on a separate document and formatted to match the résumé

Education Section

__ All schools where degree conferred listed in reverse chronological order
__ List degree(s) earned or expected, the month and year you graduated or will graduate, and the location of the school (city and state)
__ Activities and honors are strategically chosen and listed underneath each school
__ Class rank is included if you are in the top 33% of your law school class
__ GPA is either included in all of the education sections or none of them

Experience Section

__ Include relevant work experiences including internships and paid work
__ For each job, include the name of the employer, your job title, location of employment (city and state), and dates of employment
__ All descriptions of the work performed begin with action verbs
__ Present tense is used when describing the job you currently hold and past tense when describing former jobs
__ Work descriptions clearly convey what you did, focusing on your contributions rather than the employer’s work

Skills or Language(s) Section

__ If a skills section is included, it highlights ONLY significant skills
__ All languages listed should include level of fluency

Interests or Community Activities Section

__ If these sections are included, they highlight ONLY significant interests and activities and only those that you are prepared to discuss in a professional manner
Proofreading

___ Read the résumé aloud, on paper and digitally
___ Have someone else proofread your résumé
___ Ask an adviser to review your résumé before submitting it to Symplicity job postings or other job opportunities

Review & Update

___ Update your résumé after each semester to reflect any new and important academic information
___ Update your résumé with each new job, clinic, or internship you participate in

PROFESSIONAL LETTER WRITING:

COVER LETTERS:

Should you write a cover letter? Aren’t most lawyers too busy to read them? It may be true that some employers prefer to turn directly to a résumé, but it is also true that others read them, and consider them your initial writing sample.

At a minimum your cover letter should be focused, well-structured, well-reasoned and grammatically perfect. Misspellings, typographical errors or bad formatting are unacceptable. A good cover letter is not merely a restating of your résumé, it introduces you and your experience by highlighting information that is most relevant to the job and by including details that may not fit into your résumé.

1. Format
   A cover letter is a business letter and should follow standard format as to salutation, header, etc. It is always best to find the name of a contact person at an organization - sending letters with a generic salutation is not advisable; however when responding to an ad without a contact name it is sometimes unavoidable. It is fine to email cover letters and résumés. However, if you use mail, make sure each letter is signed and printed on bond paper. At this stage in your professional career, your cover letter should be no longer than one page.

2. Content
   You should invest the time to draft several standard but customizable cover letters that can be edited to fit particular types of employers. Your cover letter should always explain to the employer why you are sending a résumé, and if you are responding to a job posting tell the employer how you learned about the position.

   1. First Paragraph, Tells your reader who you are and why you are writing. Tell your reader specifically what you are interested in - law clerk during the academic year, associate position or a summer job. You should also aim to briefly answer the following questions - Why are you interested in the opportunity? Why are you a good candidate? This paragraph should engender enough attention to make the employer finish reading the letter.

   2. Body Paragraph (can be one or two paragraphs). Explains why you are a good candidate for the position. Emphasizes your achievements and experience. Aims to convey an understanding of the employer and a desire to join the organization.

   3. Final Paragraph. Thank the reader for his/her consideration; state your interest in a personal interview. Let the reader know what other documents you are including with your letter and offer to provide any additional information.

Dear Mr. Lawyer:

INTRO Paragraph (who you are and why you are writing)

BODY Paragraph (1 or 2 paragraphs - possibly one about your professional background and one about academic achievement)

FINAL Paragraph (Thank them and tell them what you are sending)

Sincerely,

Susy Second Year
WRITING SAMPLES:

Often employers will request writing samples to be included with your initial application. You want to make sure you have them ready and are able to produce them at a moment’s notice.

Additional information available at https://law.fiu.edu/career-planning/resource-center/.

INTERVIEWING TIPS:

The interview is extremely important. Once you know you have secured an interview you want to make sure to prepare properly. Contact an adviser to arrange for a mock interview to help better prepare you.

Additional information available at https://law.fiu.edu/career-planning/resource-center/.

THANK YOU LETTERS:

Writing a thank you letter after a job interview is a must. It distinguishes you from the other candidates. Plan to send out your thank you letters as soon as possible (preferably within 24 hours) after your interviews. You should send a thank you letter to each person who you met with. If you interviewed with several people – each one should get their own personalized letter that memorializes your time with that person. A hand written thank you note can be a plus. If you choose to hand write a letter, make sure that it is neat and legible. If time is of the essence, it may be best to send an email thank you letter. Regardless of how you send the letter be extremely careful that the persons’ name and the firm’s name are spelled correctly and that if you include a title it is a correct one. It is a good idea to get business cards from the interviewers when you are there, but if you are unable to obtain one, check Martindale (www.martindale.com), the firms’ website, or contact the Ovadia CP&P Office.

Dear Mr. Lawyer

FIRST PARAGRAPH: Thank the interviewer for taking the time to meet with you. Mention your interest in the job and how enthusiastic you are about it.

SECOND PARAGRAPH: Include the reasons why you are an excellent candidate for the job. List specific skills that relate to the job you interviewed for. The more detailed you are, the more the interviewer will know about your qualifications.

THIRD PARAGRAPH (optional): This is your chance to mention anything that you didn't bring up at the interview that you'd like the employer to know, or to follow up on something the interviewer may have asked or said at the interview. This gives you another chance to make a good impression.

CLOSING PARAGRAPH: Reiterate your appreciation for being considered for the job and let the interviewer know you are looking forward to hearing from him or her soon.

Sincerely,

NETWORKING:

The Ovadia CP&P Office works with the Alumni Relations Office and the Student Bar Association to present several networking opportunities to students throughout the year. A variety of alumni functions and other FIU Law community activities offer a wide range of opportunities to network with practitioners, judges and others. Students are strongly encouraged to participate.

There are many outside opportunities to network as well. Attending Florida Bar functions and affinity bar functions are a good way to meet people. Offering to volunteer for events these organizations sponsor may get you free tickets and a great way to meet members. The Ovadia CP&P Office keeps a calendar of upcoming voluntary bar association events, located at our website on the Resource Center page at https://law.fiu.edu/career-planning/resource-center/. Make sure to participate.

In addition to traditional networking, we encourage students to be aware of the importance and dangers of social networking sites. Make sure to keep your private life private. Set your privacy tabs on social networking sites such as Facebook.

Consider joining professional networking cites such as Linked In. This is a good place to start developing your professional network.

RECRUITING PROGRAMS: ON-CAMPUS INTERVIEWS (OCI) AND RÉSUMÉ COLLECT:

During the fall and spring of your second and third years - and for 1Ls, the spring of your first year - a number of employers come on campus to conduct interviews. This recruiting process is known as “OCI” (On-Campus Interviews). Employers unable to come on campus request résumés from interested students (Résumé Collect). Fall and Spring recruiting programs are open to all law students. Employers include large and medium-sized law firms, corporations, government agencies and public interest organizations.

If you wish to be considered, you will need to submit a résumé and other application materials via Symplicity by the posted deadline. If you are selected for an interview, you will also accept/schedule your interview via Symplicity. Employers participating in a Résumé Collect will contact those students they wish to interview directly.

During fall recruiting, employers interview students for law clerk positions to begin the following summer and for permanent positions after graduation. Fall OCI registration begins during the summer and is done entirely through Symplicity, which means you are able to access it no matter where you are. Therefore, it is important that you read emails from the Ovadia CP&P Office to stay informed when these programs open and close.
CAREERS IN LAW:

A. Law Firms

Working for a law firm during the summer enables you to build upon what you learned in law school with invaluable practical experience. It also enhances your résumé and helps you to network with practicing attorneys. Law firms recruit students throughout the year, however, you should note the information set forth below.

Large Law Firms

Large law firms are able to project their growth and hiring needs better than smaller firms and therefore hire most of their summer associates through fall recruiting programs throughout the country. While most of their summer associates are second year students, some large firms hire first year students. You can find out which firms hire first year students by consulting the NALP Directory of Legal Employers, which is available online at www.nalpdirectory.com. According to NALP’s Principles and Standards for Law Placement and Recruitment Activities, prospective employers and first year law students should not initiate contact with one another prior to December 1. All NALP-member firms (which tend to be the large firms) adhere to this guideline.

Mid- and Small-Sized Law Firms

Mid- and small-sized law firms offer more employment opportunities to first year students than large firms do. Many of these firms post open positions on Symplicity, and some participate in our Spring OCI program. Also, first year students can contact these firms directly by sending their cover letters and résumés to them even if the firms do not have published job postings at the time. The Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory http://www.martindale.com is a great research tool for this type of self-initiated job search. We suggest that you meet with an Ovadia CP&P Office adviser to discuss this further before you begin to contact these firms.

B. Government

Federal Government

The federal government offers career opportunities in a broad range of legal fields, such as admiralty, banking, trade regulation, taxation and finance, labor law, communications regulation, international law, energy law, antitrust, patent law, public utilities regulation, criminal and constitutional law. For specific information on the role of attorneys in a particular agency, refer to the Federal Yellow Book, which is available online at www.LeadershipDirectories.com and Now Hiring: Government Jobs for Lawyers, which is available in the FIU Law Library. You can find over 1,800 volunteer positions at the Department of Justice at http://www.justice.gov/careers/legal/volunteer-intern.html.

Another good resource is the Office of Personnel Management (www.opm.gov). It lists government jobs in all agencies, according to the criteria you select. A related website, https://www.usajobs.gov/studentsandgrads, provides information on government agencies with student employment opportunities. The NALP Directory of Legal Employers (www.nalpdirectory.com) also has information on some government agencies, including contact information and hiring criteria. You should keep in mind that several of the largest federal agencies have formal recruitment programs, interview in early fall and make offers by December. If you are interested in a summer clerkship with a government agency, check with the Ovadia CP&P Office immediately upon returning to school in the fall of your second year.

Local and State Government

A number of internship opportunities are available to law students in local and state government agencies. Ideally, you should start applying for summer employment at local and state government agencies no later than mid-spring semester. However, most of these agencies are willing to hire students, as long as there is space available. An effective way to obtain information about internship opportunities at local and state agencies is to visit the website of the specific agency in which you are interested. Usually, the specific agency’s website will provide detailed information regarding its internship program.

To obtain more information on opportunities with local and state government, as well as contact information for many local and state agencies in Florida, such as the Miami-Dade State Attorney’s Office, the Miami-Dade County Public Defender’s Office, the State of Florida Attorney General’s Office and the City of Miami Attorney’s Office, please contact the Ovadia CP&P Office.

C. Judicial Internships

A judicial internship is an opportunity for a law student to work with a judge while attending law school. A judicial clerkship, on the other hand, is an opportunity to work with a judge after graduating from law school. In this Handbook we have focused on judicial internships. Should you wish to obtain more information on judicial clerkships, refer to the Judicial Clerkship Guide, which is available in the Ovadia CP&P Office Library, or make an appointment to meet with the Assistant Dean, Ana Bierman.

Internship positions are available at the federal and state court levels throughout the academic year and during the summer. Depending on the court, an intern will typically attend court proceedings, assist in drafting memoranda and opinions, and conduct research for the judges.
The process for applying for an internship varies by state and by court. When applying for an internship, it is recommended that you first have your résumé and cover letter reviewed by the Ovadia CP&P Office. Once you have an approved résumé and cover letter, and have decided where you wish to intern, you should do the following:

- Call the chambers of the judges for whom you would like to intern, and ask their judicial assistants if the judges are accepting applications for interns.
- Attend the Judicial Clerkship and Internship Information Sessions in the fall and spring.

Federal Judges

You may visit www.uscourts.gov to obtain biographical/professional information about judges with whom you are interested in working. Other online resources for judicial clerkships include:

- OSCAR -Online System for Clerkship Application and Review: https://oscar.uscourts.gov/
- Federal Judicial Center: http://www.fjc.gov/
- State and Local Government on the Net: http://www.statelocalgov.net/index.cfm

Florida State Appellate Court Judges

Visit www.flcourts.org to gather information on state appellate judges and follow the same procedure above.

Florida State Trial Court Judges

For the Eleventh Judicial Circuit Court, visit www.jud11.flcourts.org. Each judicial district in Florida has its own website which can be found on www.flcourts.org. Thereafter, follow the same procedure as set forth above.

Judges Outside Dade County or Florida

If you are interested in interning for federal or state judges outside of Dade County, or outside of Florida, please consult www.uscourts.gov or www.judicialclerkships.com for links to the courts of other states, and The Vermont Guide to State Judicial Clerkship Procedures is also available online. Please contact the Ovadia CP&P Office for your username and password. The process for applying to these judges is the same as the process discussed above for Florida judges.
Protocol for All Judges

If a judge offers you a position, you should accept immediately. As such, do not apply if you are not fully committed to accepting an offer. Once you have applied for an internship or clerkship, wait ten days to two weeks before calling to follow up on the status of your application. If you get an interview, you must fully research the judge prior to the interview and see Dean Bierman about mock interviews and other guidance.

D. Public Interest

Public interest law refers to legal areas that focus on matters affecting the public at large, and often involve an underrepresented constituency. The practice includes legal representation for a governmental entity or non-profit organizations.

The knowledge and skills utilized in public interest work is similar and transferable to private firms. One distinction is that in public interest, you will have earlier opportunities to meet directly with clients and appear in court.

There are many different types of public interest employers including:

- Public Defenders Offices represent indigent clients in criminal cases. The Directory of Legal Aid and Defender Offices in the United States – www.nlada.org
- Legal Service Organizations represent clients in civil cases
- Public Interest Policy and Advocacy Groups seek to influence governmental policy through regulatory comment, lobbying and advocacy
- Public Interest Litigation Groups support litigation that impact particular issues
- Public Interest Environmental Organizations work for the benefit of the environment
- Trade and Professional Associations represent the interest of their members in areas of legislative and regulatory policy

If you think that public interest is where you would like to begin your career, it is imperative that you get as much experience in the field as possible. Unlike most other areas of the law, public interest employers tend to hire based on experience and demonstrated interest, rather than solely on academic achievements. Additionally, you will find that the public interest community is relatively close-knit, and once you are known as a dedicated professional, finding work within the field will be easier through those networks.

FIU Law is a member of EJW, an organization that connects law students and lawyers interested in the public sector. Through EJW you are able to attend the largest national public interest career fair in the country. More than 1,200 students from 165 law schools attend for two days of interviews, workshops, networking and other career opportunities each October. In addition, EJW sponsors summer fellowships and post-graduate fellowships in the public sector.

PSJD – www.PSJD.org

PSJD is an online database of domestic and international public interest opportunities. It houses information on volunteer projects during the school year and the summer, as well as post-graduate public interest employment. The database matches students with government agencies, legal aid societies, non-profit organizations, judges and private firms according to parameters you specify. Students must register for access and registration is free to FIU Law students.

Fellowships

Additionally, PSJD has a comprehensive list of all the major summer and post-graduate fellowships. Fellowships are a great opportunity for students interested in pursuing a career in public interest law. Post-graduate fellowships are awarded after law school graduation for a fixed period of time, while summer fellowships or semester fellowships are available to students during their first and second summers of law school, and during the academic year. Some fellowships are paid and others are unpaid. The following is a sample of fellowship opportunities available to students during the first summer of law school:

- Equal Justice Works’ Summer Corps (http://www.equaljusticeworks.org/programs/summercorps/general)
- U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission’s Summer Honors Law Program (www.sec.gov/jobs/jobs_students.shtml)
- Florida Supreme Court Internship Program for Distinguished Florida Law Students

E. Corporations and Additional Organizations

Corporate Counsel

Corporate legal departments, like corporations themselves, vary in size, from a single attorney to over 200 attorneys. Since finding a position as corporate counsel is very competitive, interested students should start networking during law school by joining bar associations and relevant student organizations, and attending the seminars and functions sponsored by these associations and organizations. For more information refer to the Directory of Corporate Counsel and the NALP pamphlet, Going In-House: A Guide for Law Students and Recent Graduates, both of which are available on the NALP website.

Accounting Firms

Although the main business of accounting firms involves auditing, tax planning and management services, these organizations are also involved in the same work handled by private tax practitioners, including mergers and acquisitions, estate planning, foreign taxation and corporate reorganizations. In addition, many public accounting firms have diversified to provide a broad range of business planning and consulting services to a variety of clients.

Banking

Trust departments in banks employ law graduates to advise on matters of probate, personal trusts, pension, corporate and profit sharing trusts. The consumer lending departments, credit departments (commercial loans) and personnel departments (employment discrimination and civil rights law) of banks also employ law graduates. For more information, refer to the Directory of Trust Banking, published by the American Bankers Association at (www.aba.com).

University Counsel

University counsel work on legal issues involving contracts, gift planning, labor relations, college athletics and tax, as well as with issues particular to educational institutions. The National Association of College and University Attorneys (NACUA – www.nacua.org), located in Washington, D.C., is comprised of attorneys who serve as in-house counsel and attorneys who work for firms that represent educational institutions. NACUA can be a useful resource when conducting research on the position of university counsel.

Before making the decision to focus on non-traditional careers, you should consult closely with an Ovadia CP&P Office adviser about motivations and strategies. Many of these books are available in our office or can be ordered upon request.
JOB FAIRS:

FIU Law participates in numerous job fairs. These programs give students increased access to a broad range of employers and help accommodate employers unable to travel to FIU Law for on-campus interviews. Students interested in getting exposure to employers outside of Florida should consider attending job fairs. All job fairs have strict deadlines that must be adhered to. We strongly encourage you to visit the job fair websites for additional information. Please review the job fairs available to you and make note of any deadlines. For more information, please contact the Ovadia CP&P Office at lawcareer@fiu.edu.

Pre-Registration: For some job fairs you will be required to pre-register with the Ovadia CP&P Office in order to receive important information including participating employers and deadlines. Pre-registration does not mean you are committing to attending the job fair.

RECIPROCITY POLICY:

https://law.fiu.edu/career-planning/reciprocity-policy/

If you are seeking post-graduate employment outside of South Florida, the Ovadia CP&P Office can assist by requesting reasonable reciprocal access to a participating law school’s career services office in your desired geographic location. Many law schools make their career planning offices and services available to students and alumni of other law schools on a reciprocal basis. Practices and available services vary from school to school, and an advance letter of introduction from the Ovadia CP&P Office is required.

Before enlisting the Ovadia CP&P Office to request reciprocity privileges for you, it is important that you read the intended law school’s reciprocity policy to ensure that you are eligible to participate.

To request reciprocity from a school outside of South Florida, email lawcareer@fiu.edu. Those requesting reciprocity must provide their year in school or year of graduation, contact information, the law school from which they are requesting reciprocity and, if available, the contact information for the reciprocity coordinator at that school, which may be available through NALP.

Please note: Most schools do not offer reciprocity services during the fall, and students and alumni may only have one active reciprocity request at a time.
APPENDIX A: INDIVIDUAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN:

USING THE INDIVIDUAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN:

Self-awareness is essential to a successful and satisfying career. The attached IDP aids that process by asking you to complete several self-assessment inventories that you will use to identify career options that fit your unique set of interests, skills and values.

After completing the worksheets, make an appointment with an adviser who will help you set goals and generate action steps relevant to your career aspirations, whether you have a specific idea of what you want to do or you are simply in the information-gathering stage. Taking a proactive approach to your career early in your law school education allows you to be directed in the types of opportunities you seek. In addition to providing career advising, recruiting programs, and job listings, we also offer educational programming, resources and networking opportunities to help you gain the information you need to make informed career decisions.

We are here to help you, so please come see us with your completed IDP.
TWO STEP WORKPLACE VALUES EXERCISE:

STEP ONE: Rate the importance of each of the workplace values on the following list. We have left a few blank lines at the end in case we have missed something that you consider essential.

Rate the degree of importance you place on each of the following values using this scale:

1 = Things I value VERY MUCH
2 = Things I value SOMEWHAT
3 = NOT VERY IMPORTANT

I am interested in jobs and careers that include:

- _____ helping those in need
- _____ mental challenge/mentally demanding/problem solving
- _____ opportunity for balance between work life and family life
- _____ flexibility in work structure
- _____ intellectual status, an acknowledged “expert” in a given field
- _____ order and structure
- _____ high degree of competition
- _____ integrity and truth
- _____ rewarding loyalty and dependability
- _____ having self-respect and pride in work
- _____ stability and security
- _____ strong financial compensation and financial rewards
- _____ being recognized for quality of work in a visible/public way
- _____ having a positive impact on others and society
- _____ using creativity, imagination; being innovative
- _____ variety and a changing work pace
- _____ professional development and on-going learning and growth
- _____ friendships and warm working relationships
- _____ teamwork and work groups
- _____ glamour, prestige, respect, or a level of social status
- _____ routine, predictable work projects
- _____ deadlines and time demand/pressure challenges
- _____ clear advancement tracks/opportunities for advancement
- _____ tranquility, comfort, and avoidance of pressure
- _____ dealing with the public/day-to-day contact with the public
- _____ using cutting edge or pioneering technologies or techniques
- _____ opportunities for supervision, power, leadership, influence
- _____ making decisions, having power to decide courses of action
- _____ respect, recognition, being valued
- _____ autonomy, independence, freedom
- _____ precision work with little tolerance for error
- _____ adventure and excitement
- _______
STEP TWO: Narrow down your list to the five core values you consider most Important - that you cannot live without in your job/workplace - and write them below:

1. ________________________________________
2. ________________________________________
3. ________________________________________
4. ________________________________________
5. ________________________________________

OPTIONAL: Write a short statement expressing how the selected values have impacted or influenced decisions you have made related to your previous career, accomplishments or choices.

REFLECTION: Workplace values are a critically important, yet often overlooked factor when trying to determine what is most and least important to you in your job and career choices. An awareness of your work values allows you to take action steps to explore and identify settings, practice areas and types of work that are in alignment with what truly matters to you. Ideally you can use this awareness to help judge the level of "fit" with any future job, employer, or career change. Values are often described as either being “intrinsic” or “extrinsic.” Intrinsic values refer to the actual work being performed and its societal or personal purpose or meaning, such as creativity or helping others. Extrinsic values are external factors, such as prestige, compensation and leisure time.

Obstacles/Challenges & Strategy for Overcoming

1. I don’t know how to find alumni. So I will talk to an Ovadia CP&P Office adviser and use LinkedIn.

2. I don’t feel confident in the subject matter. Join environmental law bar association at free or reduced student rate. Attend networking events and volunteer to serve.

3. I don’t know what classes to take. Schedule meeting with Academic Adviser.
